

Nevy! Hi!

I feel REAAAALLY bad about the whole 'assuming you were dating Witherby' thing. And I could tell you were getting overwhelmed trying to figure out if you even liked him like that on your own...

So!

I thought maybe I could help you out like I do with Training research?

I've attached ALL the stuff I could find on bisexuality and how to tell if you are and all that, and I figure you can do your thing to it and figure out what parts actually matter?

Love (but not that way!)

Devy

~~~~~

How To Tell If You (Neville) are Bisexual (for Witherby) .

by Devona [REDACTED]

Reach: This Document Should Be For Your (Neville's) Eyes Only And Not For Anyone Else (Besides Me, Devona, Who Can't Write This Blind, Ha Ha) .

Risks and Opportunities: Reading This Document Risks You (Neville) Finding Out You are Bisexual (for Witherby). The Opportunity Is Also That You (Neville) Might Find Out You are Bisexual (for Witherby).

Executive Summary: ((Nevy, I'm gonna leave this blank 'till you work your magic in your editing pass, k?))

Research:

[REDACTED]

- [REDACTED] characterized by sexual or romantic attraction to people of one's same sex and of the opposite sex
- of, relating to, or characterized by sexual or romantic attraction to people of one's own gender identity and of other gender identities

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Research showed that sexual behavior, thoughts, and feelings towards the same or opposite sex were not always consistent across time. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

- 37% of males [REDACTED] had at least some overt homosexual experience to orgasm;

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

"Janus and Janus, in their [REDACTED] survey of American adults [REDACTED] stated that 9% of men [REDACTED] reported having had homosexual experiences "frequently" or "ongoing." [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] national [REDACTED] study attempted to differentiate between sexual attraction, sexual behavior, and sexual identity. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] The percentage reporting their sexual identity as bisexual is between 1% and 3% of males [REDACTED]. About 4%-6% of males ever had same-sex contact. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

men [REDACTED] who acknowledge same-sex attractions and/or sexual practices than who identify as LGBTQ [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] First, sexual orientation and sexual identity differ. Sexual orientation includes emotional attractions and sexual attractions, practices, desires, and fantasies ([REDACTED]). Each element is related but distinct [REDACTED]. Aspects of orientation do not always cluster in ways suggested by common sexual identities."

[REDACTED] some individuals with same-sex attractions and/or practices identify as LGBTQ, whereas others identify as straight. "

[REDACTED]

"Biromantic describes the capacity to be romantically attracted to more than one gender."

"Being biromantic doesn't necessarily mean you're sexually attracted to people of different genders."

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] "bisexual" [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] doesn't always align with who you're romantically attracted to. For example, someone might be sexually interested in people of one gender, but romantically interested in multiple genders."

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

"The first step is knowing what romantic feelings feel like, and how to distinguish them from sexual and platonic feelings—[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

"Such activities include (but are not limited to) snuggling, holding hands, going on romantic dates, exchanging romantic words, sharing a bed, [and] being in a committed relationship," [REDACTED] these activities will feel different from how they would with someone you want platonic intimacy with."

"Ultimately, you get to decide how you identify. Figuring out who you are can take time, and that's OK! Try to not be too hard on yourself or rush the process."

"Don't be afraid to ask questions, but also make it a priority to do your own (responsibly sourced) research."

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] a sex dream alone isn't reason enough [REDACTED]

"The only time a sex dream may give you some inclination [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

"That's not to say that as a bisexual person you won't spend hours, if not years, of your life questioning your sexuality and wondering if you really are one thing or another—gay, straight, or maybe something else entirely. But maybe all that questioning is [REDACTED] a necessary step [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

"There were some inklings and vibes for a while, but it didn't feel like it became a fact until I was [REDACTED] truly flustered for the first time in a long time."

[REDACTED] I secretly hoped she would try to kiss me."

Resources:

<https://www.merriam-webster.com/dictionary/bisexual>

<https://www.insider.com/guides/health/sex-relationships/biromantic>

<https://www.healthline.com/health/am-i-bisexual>

<https://kinseyinstitute.org/research/publications/historical-report-diversity-of-sexual-orientation.php>

<https://www.cosmopolitan.com/sex-love/a27574705/am-i-bisexual/>

<https://academic.oup.com/sf/article/97/3/1067/5045222>

<https://kinseyinstitute.org/research/publications/kinsey-scale.php>

<https://www.menshealth.com/sex-women/a39431976/biromantic-meaning/>

